Community Agreements

- Honor the time – no sidebars in chat, technology aligned to meeting purpose, start & end on time

- Act as a collective body – honor confidentiality when someone shares a personal story

- Check for understanding – surface assumptions

- Share divergent views – value as learning opportunity

- Celebrate successes and each other’s contributions
What is Equity?
Just and fair inclusion.
An equitable society is one in which all can participate and prosper.
The goals of equity must be to create conditions that allow all to reach their full potential.
Equity creates a path from hope to change.
What is the Deficit Thinking Paradigm?
(Z. Hammond)

“While operating from a deficit thinking paradigm, educators and policymakers believe that culturally and linguistically diverse students fail in school because of their own deficiencies or because their families don’t value education, not because of social inequities, unfair school policies, or different treatment in the classroom. There is an ill-informed belief that a students’ failures are family dysfunction. This deficit perspective suggests that efforts to improve academic achievement should focus on “fixing students” (i.e. improving test taking skills) rather than shifting the school culture to support intellective academic potential. As a result, teachers’ deficit-oriented attributions of student performance influence their instructional decision making, resulting in giving students less opportunity for engaging curricula, interesting tasks, and culturally congruent ways of learning.”
3 Layers of Systemic Bias

- Internalized - manifestation of bias within oneself
- Interpersonal - manifestation of bias between people
- Institutional - manifestation of bias within organizations, groups, education system, legal system, etc

USDOE Framework: Family Engagement Should be Relational, Build Capacity of Families And Staff, And Be Linked to Learning
Anti-Racist Partnership Mindset:

Core Beliefs

- All parents have dreams for their children and want the best for them.
- All parents can support their children’s learning.
- Partnerships with families are essential to academic achievement.
- The responsibility for building partnerships between school and home rests on all staff, including the principal.
Equity Learning Questions for Educators

- How do I make the invisible VISIBLE?
- How do I build empowering narratives of my students and families?
- How do I counter deficit thinking?
- How do I integrate my student and families’ cultural and linguistic assets with learning?
Building Parent & Community Partnership for Learning and Continuous Improvement

We must build up parent and educator capacity across the district for partnership. We start from the same base – engaged parents and students.

Family & Student Engagement

I am involved in my/my child’s education.

Community Engagement

I am involved in my/my child’s school.
I am involved with the broader school community.

I am involved district-wide, city-wide, community-wide.

- Teacher-Parent Academic Communication
How do we set up conditions for partnership virtually?
Welcoming Environment

• How are you planning to welcome your students and families virtually?
  – Emails
  – Website (info for families that is updated)
  – Phone calls (from teachers)
  – Texts (from teachers, from school)
  – Mail (postcards, etc)

Make sure to use engagement opportunities to recruit volunteers, especially at the beginning of the year
How are you planning ongoing communication with families? How often and for what purpose?

- Newsletters via email (general updates and info)
- Coffee with the principal on zoom (Set up for different languages)
- Community meetings via zoom (language centered)
- Classroom meetings via zoom
- Room parents who can help with calls, emails and texts
Teacher/Parent Relationship & Academic Communication

- How are we creating systems and structures for parent/teacher communication?
  - Mode of Communication;
    - “home visits” (zoom or in person)
    - calls home
    - emails to families and students
    - texts (TalkingPoints/FasTalk)
  - Frequency and purpose of communications
    - Welcome/Relationship Building
    - Information about DL program and expectations
    - Regular check-ins about student progress
